

SUMMARY 1: Specimen — Treehotel

"Summarise what would appeal most to guests about a stay at the Treehotel."

The retreat offers a tranquil forest setting where guests can unwind — allowing them to feel as though they are stepping into an entirely different world. Guests can fulfil the childhood aspiration of residing in a treehouse through a variety of distinct accommodation options; furthermore, the creative architectural designs are well-concealed within the natural surroundings. The accommodation provides complete privacy. Similarly, panoramic views are afforded through ceiling windows whilst remaining unseen from outside. Underfloor heating ensures warmth during colder months; moreover, guests have the option of sleeping outdoors without being disturbed by insects. Visitors can engage in walking tours of the nearby settlement in tandem with meeting local residents over refreshments. Not only was the land rescued from the logging industry, but the venue was constructed sustainably with measures to protect local wildlife. Conclusively, this commitment to environmental preservation is the most compelling appeal of the retreat.

(140 words)

SUMMARY 2: S24 V11 — Plogging

"Summarise the benefits and attractions of plogging."

Plogging yields a multitude of benefits — beginning from a visible impact that can be made on the ecosystem through collective community efforts. Not only does it conserve natural scenery, but local wildlife is also protected through the removal of harmful waste. The activity includes instinctive movements suited to the human body; furthermore, one's mental wellbeing is enhanced by time spent in nature. Physical health is improved as bodily functions are strengthened. Similarly, the movement is not limited to any person or any time restraint. It encourages quality family time — teaching younger generations about environmental responsibility. The venture is endorsed by online sustainability influencers — which has accelerated its popularity. Conclusively, plogging is an appealing blend of physical exercise and environmental preservation.

SUMMARY 3: S24 V12 — Authentic Travel "Summarise what Bob Hunter thinks would appeal to customers booking a holiday with his travel company."

The travel company appeals to customers due to its genuine cultural experience where travellers interact with local communities. Furthermore, having operated for several decades, it has a well-established reputation. It offers smaller group tours in tandem with native guides — who know the region well. The company operates across a multitude of countries, ensuring a vast selection of destinations. Not only do customers feel secure and looked after, but complex logistical arrangements are also handled by the company: essential services that would otherwise be difficult to organise independently. Accommodation is clean and comfortable; moreover, the schedule allows flexibility, enabling individuals to join group activities at their discretion. Many excursions require a group — which also makes certain activities more affordable when undertaken collectively. Conclusively, specialised interest tours are offered coupled with the appeal of this authentic travel venture.

(136 words)

SUMMARY 4: W24 V11 — Animal Sanctuaries "Summarise the arguments against volunteering to work with animals."

Volunteering to work with animals is an avenue that does not yield any real outputs. Volunteers merely seek popular and endearing animal encounters; furthermore, they avoid more worthwhile conservation opportunities owing to the lack of glamour. Most organisations exploit volunteers as a source of revenue; whereas these financial resources could be directed to achieve a bigger impact. The root causes of wildlife endangerment are neglected by most facilities. They prioritise saving solitary animals over entire populations in tandem with not giving importance to preserving the actual habitats. Moreover, the air travel to isolated sanctuaries contributes to environmental degradation — undermining the very cause volunteers claim to support. Volunteers are not adequately trained coupled with their short working periods. Therefore, the difference made is likely to be insignificant given their brief involvement.

(141 words)

SUMMARY 5: W24 V12 — Fitness App "Summarise the disadvantages of the fitness app."

The fitness app has numerous detrimental effects on its users. It requires a significant financial commitment through monthly payments; furthermore, personal data is shared without consent. The application is highly addictive, compelling individuals to constantly upload their achievements. Not only does it foster unhealthy competitiveness, but the enjoyment of exercising is also diminished entirely. Users experience overwhelming peer pressure to share every workout; moreover, daily comparisons with other athletes damage one's mental wellbeing. Negative comments left by others can be deeply hurtful — and failures are displayed numerically for all to see. The app encourages overtraining: users push themselves faster and further than advisable, disregarding their own pace. It also drains the device's battery during exercise — restricting the ability to seek help or directions. Conclusively, the application has become an outdated trend that predominantly yields detrimental outcomes.

(140 words)

SUMMARY 6: S25 V11 — Swimming Pools "Summarise the benefits and attractions of different kinds of swimming pools."

Swimming pools offer a multitude of benefits depending on their type — beginning from the public pools which offer an affordable form of recreation. They provide an accessible form of exercise where essential swimming skills can be acquired. They allow individuals to socialise and serve as a source of relaxation coupled with physical health benefits. Furthermore, holiday accommodation featuring a pool enhances the overall tourist experience. Not only are private pools considered a luxury and status symbol, but they also offer the indulgence of swimming at one's convenience. Moreover, indoor variants allow year-round usage regardless of weather conditions; similarly, eco-friendly pools provide an environmentally sound option without harsh substances where natural purification enriches the water with oxygen. Adequate habitats for aquatic wildlife are also provided. Natural cleaning agents reduce water consumption by diminishing the frequency of emptying and refilling — which makes them cheaper to operate.

(145 words)

SUMMARY 7: S25 V12 — Zoo / Project Planet "Summarise the arguments against the plans for the zoo."

The zoo is a renowned and historic attraction that has served the community for numerous decades; furthermore, generations of families hold sentimental attachment to the site. The proposed location is considerably distant — requiring multiple journeys and parking is severely restricted. Not only will the construction cause substantial disruption, but unnecessary buildings will replace the beloved old site. Moreover, younger visitors will no longer observe rare and endangered wildlife, since popular animals are being sold to other facilities. Transporting animals over long distances poses a welfare risk: considerable stress is caused during relocation. Similarly, employees face the threat of unemployment. The plans were announced without any public consultation. The new site has inadequate land coupled with fewer enclosures than suggested. Conclusively, the proposed changes predominantly yield detrimental outcomes for the community.

quality of your writing.

Locals argue against the possible disturbance created in the future due to construction of unnecessary residential and commercial sites, after moving the zoo. Concern is shown over the loss of opportunity for youth to examine closely, the endangered species and the nostalgia of visiting with loved ones since famous animals are to be shifted to zoos elsewhere. Moreover, they value educational role of the zoo - aware people about endangerment of these creatures. It also breaches mental health of animals, forcing them to embark on long, anxiety-inducing journeys to other zoos. Furthermore, the job displacement of zoo workers and disregard of public opinion, exacerbates frustration. All these complaints are coupled with the fact that the new proposed dwelling for the zoo is much less spacious than what is originally claimed. This means that facilities for visitors, like car parking will be compromised on, making it even less enjoyable for those who will travel the long distance to the zoo.

© UCLES 2025

1123/12/M/J/25

* 0029712400807 *

(147 words)

SAMPLE STUDENT SCRIPT 1: Locals argue against the possible disturbance created in the future due to construction of unnecessary residential and commercial sites, after moving the zoo. Concern is shown over the loss of opportunity for youth to examine closely, the endangered species and the nostalgia of visiting with loved ones since famous animals are to be shifted to zoos elsewhere. Moreover, they value educational role of the zoo - making people aware about endangerment of these creatures. It also breaches mental health of animals, forcing them to embark on long, anxiety-inducing journeys to other zoos. Furthermore, the job displacement of zoo workers and disregard of public opinion, exacerbates frustration. All these complaints are coupled with the fact that the new proposed dwelling for the zoo is much less spacious than what is originally claimed. The facilities for visitors, like car parking will be compromised on – making it even less enjoyable for those who will travel the long distance to the zoo. (147 words)

Avoid copying long sections of the text.

Your summary should be no more than 150 words.

Up to 10 marks are available for the content of your answer and up to 10 marks for the quality of your writing.

The city-centre zoo has proved a popular site for tourists, for decades, therefore people are outraged when they have not been consulted. Most have ample memories connected with the old site, whilst, these fear that their children might lose the opportunity to see exotic animals up close, especially since the new site will be quite far and a hassle to go to (due to restricted parking plus long rides). Moreover, the possible development at the old location will not only be annoying for those living nearby, but some also insist it is simply not needed! Additionally, conservationists express concern over the loss of some famous animals such as big cats, as only some animals will be moved. Not only that, the transportation itself will be as well as their living areas (which are more constricted), will be stressful - even harmful! - for the animals. Employees fear loss of jobs, and unemployment too.

© UCLES 2025

1123/12/M/J/25

Scanned with CamScanner

* 0020712004107 *

7

will be stressful - even harmful! - for the animals. Employees fear loss of jobs, and unemployment too.

(150)

SAMPLE SCRIPT 2: The city-centre zoo has proved a popular site for tourists, for decades, therefore people are outraged when they have not been consulted. Most have ample memories connected with the old site, whilst, these fear that their children might lose the opportunity to see exotic animals up close, especially since the new site will be quite far and a hassle to go to (due to restricted parking plus long rides). Moreover, the possible development at the old location will not only be annoying for those living nearby, but some also insist it is simply not needed! Additionally, conservationists express concern over the loss of some famous animals such as big cats, as only some animals will be moved. Not only that, the transportation itself will be as well as their living areas (which are more constricted), will be stressful - even harmful! - for the animals. Employees fear loss of jobs, too.

There are many views against the zoo's closure. Firstly, a few of the local people are emotionally attached with the zoo as it is a fragment of one of their beautiful childhood memories. Also, it is said that the current youth might not be able to witness unique and near to extinct animals. Moving different species to other areas ~~can~~ is another big issue as it might cause tension among the animals, as well as, there might not be enough land for all the creatures. ~~To not~~ Not only animals, it can also harm humans in terms of unemployment of the zoo workers, leading to poverty. Concerns are also being raised about ~~de~~ against demolishing the zoo without ~~any~~ seeking majority people's opinion. Lastly, local residents, who think that there is no requirement of new apartments and offices, might not be even allowed to reach the future animal sites due to parking issues.

Words : 146

SAMPLE SCRIPT 3: There are many views against the zoo's closure. Firstly, a few of the local people are emotionally attached with the zoo as it is a fragment of one of their beautiful childhood memories. Also, it is said that the current youth might not be able to witness unique and near to extinct animals. Moving different species to other areas is another big issue as it might cause tension among the animals, as well as, there might not be enough land for all the creatures. Not only animals, it can also harm humans in terms of unemployment of the zoo workers, leading to poverty. Concerns are also being raised against demolishing the zoo without seeking majority people's opinion. Lastly, local residents, who think that there is no requirement of new apartments and offices, might not be even allowed to reach the future animal sites due to parking issues.

SUMMARY 8: W25 V11 — Mount Everest "Summarise the arguments against climbing Mount Everest nowadays."

The number of individuals attempting the ascent has increased dramatically — making the achievement no longer notable or impressive. Climbers predominantly undertake the endeavour for social media recognition rather than genuine accomplishment. The route does not have to be pioneered by modern climbers; furthermore, any reasonably fit person can complete the climb. Heavy loads are carried by hired teams and advanced equipment is fixed along the route — allowing clients to travel with minimal effort. More affordable and mentally beneficial activities exist that pose a significantly lower risk to life; moreover, many climbers are not professional or seasoned mountaineers. Similarly, alternative trekking routes provide equally stunning views of the mountain. Not only has the ice become unstable and increasingly dangerous due to melting glaciers, but the abandoned belongings and microplastic waste are causing detrimental environmental damage. Conclusively, the mountain is technically not the tallest globally: this further diminishes its prestige as an achievement.

(148 words)

SUMMARY 9: W25 V12 — Sneakers "Summarise the reasons why so many people buy sneakers made by the big brands."

Sneakers manufactured by major brands appeal to a diverse range of individuals — making them universally prevalent footwear. Renowned athletes endorse these products through lucrative contracts; furthermore, consumers aspire to own the same footwear as their sporting idols. Not only have sneakers become a fashionable status symbol, but exceptional comfort is also provided through innovative technology — which enhances sporting performance. Dedicated enthusiasts actively pursue different models, collecting them as a hobby: they form communities where they bond over their shared passion. The footwear has a fascinating heritage spanning several decades; moreover, limited editions produced in restricted quantities are exceptionally rare. These sneakers are highly desirable in tandem with being a profitable investment through resale. Furthermore, the constant introduction of new designs sustains consumer interest. Conclusively, sneakers appeal to buyers for reasons ranging from comfort and fashion to community and financial gain.

(146 words)